

Overview of the Renewable Energy Research Center

- AIST is working for energy sustainability.
- Renewable energy research center will be fully operational in April 2014.
- Various R&D on new technologies and system demonstration are being planned.
- It is an international collaboration hub with industry, universities, research organizations.