THE 41st SSEAYP JOURNEY: ALL FOR ONE, ONE FOR ALL

Once again MS. Nippon Maru, in 2014, successfully brought all PYs, NLS, administrative staff, facilitators, and OBSC representatives on the always-amazing SSEAYP journey, which started at Harumi Port, Tokyo, Japan. It then continued on to 4 other welcoming port-of-calls; Muara, Sihanouk Province, Yangon and Surabaya before heading back to the Land of the Rising Sun.

On 13 November 2014 in Muara, Brunei, which was the first port-of-call, PYs were already showing their excitement and enthusiasm for the program. Upon completing the local program in Brunei on 16 November 2014, the PYs' next stop was Sihanouk Province, Cambodia.

They reached Kompong Som Port on 19 November 2014, marking another milestone in SSEAYP's history – the program's very first time in Cambodia. Nevertheless, PYs had a memorable and meaningful experience in the local program in Cambodia. After Cambodia, there were 2 other milestones of sorts as SSEAYP visited Myanmar for the first time in 14 years and thereafter, Surabaya, Indonesia for the first time in 19 years. Even after all these years, PYs were still warmly welcomed at each port of call and they still brought away warm and fond memories of each country's local program.

Our beloved MS. Nippon Maru finally ended her journey on 17 December 2014 as she docked at Harumi Port, Tokyo, Japan. Nevertheless, this is not the end for the PYs. It is just the beginning of another chapter in their epic SSEAYP journey.

INTERVIEW WITH THE ADMINISTRATOR: TOMOFUMI OKA

Mr. Tomofumi Oka, who's from Mie prefecture, has been working for the Japanese government for 23 years. He is currently Director for Policy of Suicide Prevention, Cabinet Office.

When Mr. Oka found out that he was selected to be the Administrator for the 41st SSEAYP, he was surprised at first. However, surprise turned into excitement as he looked forward to travelling to different ASEAN countries.

In terms of the program itself, Mr. Oka mentioned the main challenge faced in the 41st SSEAYP was the worry of how well the program can be implemented given the few firsts the program had - it was the first time the program came to Cambodia and the first time Myanmar hosted a homestay.

On a separate note, Mr. Oka hopes the program will contribute towards improving mutual understanding in the region. He feels that this can be achieved because PYs themselves gain more mutual understanding through their experience in the program. And as the PYs return to their respective countries, they will share their experiences with their fellow countrymen. This will in turn enhance mutual understanding between the diverse countries in the region.

INTERVIEW WITH CAPTAIN KEIJI KAN

For Captain Keiji Kan, 2014 is the second straight year he has captained the 41st SSEAYP. He has however been the Captain of Nippon Maru since 2010. In 18 years of sailing, the role he prefers most is being the chief officer because he gets to see the sunset while working since a chief officer is on duty from 4pm to 8pm. When asked what is his dream vessel to sail, he said a huge sailboat because it offers many technical challenges.

Captain Kan's favorite part of working on a ship is the travelling, where he gets to try different cuisines of different cultures. His favorite place so far is Thailand, where he loves to golf, eat Thai food and get massages. When it comes to SSEAYP, Captain Kan's favorite part of the program is the gangway or flag cheer during the send-off ceremony. He would also like to encourage PYs to establish many close relationships while in SSEAYP because they are lucky to be part of the program.

PY IMPRESSIONS

The 41st edition of SSEAYP successfully ended its journey in December 2014. PYs exchanged views and gained new perspectives after spending 52 days and going through various experiences together.

SSEAYP brings back the energetic, cheerful and sympathetic "me" of the days when I was younger.

– Pham Thuy Tien, VPY on SSEAYP in General.

DISCUSSION GROUP

I started out assuming that the discussion sessions would be academically in-depth. However, it soon unveiled to me that the main goal of the discussion program is to promote mutual understanding and call for youth actions. In the end, it turned out that what we have gained are not only confined in knowledge, but the friendship, the connection, and the network.

– Nguyen Vu Nhat Anh, VPY.

The DG sessions provided an avenue for deeper understanding, opinion exchange and interaction between PYs from ASEAN and Japan. I gave my best especially since I was elected as the Chairperson of the 41st DG Sub-Committee. It was quite challenging yet exciting time whenever I met the DG Sub Committee. It is not the prestige of being the sub-committee chairperson that matters to me, but the friendship and camaraderie that I shared with everyone that is more important. Honestly, the Discussion Group had so much fun.

– Erika Nalliw, PPY.

HOMESTAY PROGRAM

Regardless of difficulties in conversing, I did have a great time in Surabaya. I wanted to communicate with my host family so badly, I had to actually use Google Translate. Also I did enjoy the food, especially the traditional dishes. The most touching moment of the homestay experience was from Japan. At the end of the program, my Japanese host family tightly hugged me and I was asked not to say goodbye. I do hope that soon in future we could meet again.

– Laing Puthe, CPY.

I love the weather in Nagasaki prefecture, Japan and the flowers were blooming at that time. The maple tree leaves turned to red because of the changing season, from summer to fall. My favorite thing about it is the friendly people and the delicious food!

– Gustiana Mettaningrum, IPY.

It made me want to return favour to them not only after SSEAYP, but also forever.

– Yoshiko Kuwabara, JPY on Local Interaction.

SOLIDARITY GROUP

I came to realize that we share many similarities and I have become the person who would appreciate more about the uniqueness as well as the variety of cultures. Also, I learnt that we could connect our friendship and enhance the cooperation regardless of our differences through respect and listening to each other.

– Naphasouk Sithpraxay, LPY.

Our theme for SG-H was based on positive values such as happiness and honesty. Unfortunately, our flag was partially destroyed by paint and someone screamed ‘H for Horror!’. I would certainly remember this even after SSEAYP as fond memory. This trip is not about perfection but really about the friendships forged from the activities. I will certainly miss these days with my SG. – Wei Jian, SPY.

There are never enough slots for having fun and getting know more friends.

– Pinhatai Chunharas, Phavitch Theerapong, Monrada Yamkasikom, TPY on Voluntary Activity.

NATIONAL DAY PERFORMANCE

We and other PYs always look forward to attending National Day Presentations. It enhances our knowledge about other countries' cultures and teaches us to appreciate our culture and tradition. NDP also gave us the opportunity to learn about the history of our culture and other countries' culture. It is vital for us to be involved because we are the future and it is up to us to preserve our culture.

– Khalisa & Asyikin, MaPY.

The national presentation is one of the most interesting activities on board. It is not just a cultural performance, but it also shows the creativity and ability of the participating youths. For me, I really enjoy all the national presentations, cheering the friends who is performing, saying "congratulations" at the end of the NDPs and helping them clean up the stage. It is a presentation of mutual understanding, love and friendship between countries.

– Tanisa Hanpinitsak, TPY.

The real cross-cultural understanding happens here! Love it!

– Lutfi Daud, MaPY on Local Interaction.

CABIN LIFE

Cabin life eventually becomes a place where you form a bond with your cabin mates; where guards tend to be lowered down enough for a genuine relationship to be made; you find yourself dreading the days to be apart from brothers and sisters you had gotten to know. Despite the multitude of friends made, in your SGs, DGs, contingent or through any activities, your cabin mates will no doubt be the first people you look for on that first morning back in your respective country.

– Siti Nur-azimah Mohd Alipah, BPY.

My most favorite place on the ship is my cabin 351 because I have really amazing cabin mates, Ray and Hoa. Our cabin is always full of smile and laughter. Every night we have chit-chat sessions about many things, including girl's talk until midnight. We had cabin noodle night, movie night, hijab night and even mango night. My cabin is a place where I can really feel at home and I can proudly say that I had the best cabin mates ever.

– Haruka Matsuzaki, JPY.

CLUB ACTIVITY

Through club activities (CA), we had a chance to know about each other more, deepen our friendships and widen our knowledge on different cultures and customs. In each CA, we met not only our old friends but also new friends. In this way, we could broaden our horizons of knowledge, love and care. CA also played as a platform to promote our team spirit although we were from different contingents with different backgrounds, experiences and talents. In this light, it also strengthened mutual respect among us which could also lead to more collaboration among the eleven countries.

After CA, we had got loads of fun, a barrel of laughs and a lot of gifts as well.

– Linh Htet Aung, MyPY.

Simple ideas can make a big social impact for someone in need.

– Aiza Syahrani, IPY on PPA Plenary Session.

SSEAYP IN GENERAL

It is the most amazing and most wonderful program for me. The preparation we had before the program started was very well organized. Day by day, I've experienced joy, happiness, fun, and sadness. I never thought that I have to say goodbye to each other to the friends that I have met, although it was just for a short time. SSEAYP is an excellent program with positive effects and could help with leadership skills for each participant. I'm going to love SSEAYP in my life, forever.

– Dendy Primandi, IPY.

RETURNING PY IMPRESSIONS

Coming back to SSEAYP voyage as OBSC is like retracing a nostalgic beautiful past that I can never return.

– Baibon, PPY 1990

Once a PY, Forever PY – after four decades and more than 20,000 Participating Youths, the memories of SSEAYP remain unique for every ex-PY. VT (CPY 2011) had a wonderful experience on Nippon Maru even though he was a PY on Fuji Maru. For Dyana (MaPY 2002), Puji (IPY 2008), Andy (SPY 2005) and Ai (JPY 2000), being back on the ship the second time, although with different roles, felt like going back home and sparked further SSEAYP memories. Mandy (VPY 2006) and Nazmo (BPY 2005) came on board to be surprised again, finding good new friends and even more fun time while contributing back to SSEAYP. Vannaseng (LPY 2008) is happy to meet new family members. The spirit of SSEAYP lives forever in our hearts.

Hopefully, this strengthened spirit will drive all of us to contribute back to our society.

– Ploy, TPY 2006

SIGA LANGKAWI 2014: TOUCH OF NATURE

The 26th SSEAYP International General Assembly (SIGA) was held on the legendary Langkawi Island in Malaysia, from the 23rd to 28th April 2014. Themed "Touch of Nature", SIGA Langkawi 2014 collaborated with the Ministry of Natural Resources and Environment, specifically the Department of Forestry, and the Langkawi Development Authority (LADA) for the content of the program.

Prior to the General Assembly, the Social Contribution Activity (SCA) was conducted from the 23rd to 25th April 2014. The SCA participants were ferried to Tuba Island, an island of Langkawi's archipelago, for community and conservation activities with the locals. SCA participants cycled around the island during their two nights activities there. On the last day of the SCA, the participants had a chance to volunteer at the only animal shelter (LASSie) in Langkawi.

SIGA Langkawi 2014 was officiated by Tun Dr. Mahathir Mohamad, who was the honorable Patron of SIGA Langkawi's organizing committee. In his keynote speech, he congratulated the SSEAYP family for the significant development and contribution done by the SI community. A series of environment and conservation theme lectures were also held in addition to the country reports from all the alumni associations of the SI Network.

SIGA Langkawi 2014's key achievement was breaking the Malaysia Book of Records – SIGA participants together with 1,200 locals planted the highest number of Mangrove (Paya Bakau) trees at the forest reserve area on Dayang Bunting Island under 2 hours. The former prime minister of Malaysia, Tun Abdullah Badawi, planted the 20,200th tree.

SIGA came to Malaysia again after 10 years, and the organizing committee worked very hard to ensure the event ran smoothly. The official accommodation for the event was at the Aseania Resorts and Spa, while the event venue was the Resorts World Awan. This was the biggest-scale SIGA organized with more than ten government agencies directly involved and over ten corporate sponsors supporting the event.

His Excellency Tun Dr. Mahathir Bin Mohamad, Former Prime Minister of Malaysia presented his Keynote speech on "Environmental Crisis: Impact and Effect on Socio Economic Growth"

SIGA VIETNAM 2015

Vietnam Alumni Club of Youth Friendship Programs (VACYF) is delighted to invite all our SSEAYP family members and their beloved ones to the 27th SIGA, from 23-26 April 2015 in Hanoi and Ha Long Bay. This will be a great chance for us to light up the SSEAYP spirit, immerse ourselves in SSEAYP memories, and meet up with old friends again in Ha Noi – Vietnam's capital city and Ha Long Bay, one of the World's New 7 Wonders.

In view of the SSEAYP spirit, the theme for this coming SIGA will be "ASEAN – Japan cooperation for a better future through alumni activities".

Activities of SIGA 2015 include Council of President (COP) Meeting, General Assembly, Seminars, Institutional Visits in Ha Noi and outdoor activities in Ha Long Bay. Prior to SIGA, an SCA will be held on 21-23 April 2015 in the suburb of Ha Noi. VPYs 2014 will lead this activity as one of their PPA and reach out for collaborations and contributions from local organizations and enterprises as well as from their Japan-ASEAN friends.

Through different activities over 5 days, we will together remind ourselves of the great value that SSEAYP has added to our own lives, our society, and the region, and once again affirm there is no generational or geographical boundaries for friendship and cooperation.

DISCUSSION FACILITATORS

The Discussion Program is a significant part of SSEAYP. Every year, discussion facilitators lead PYs in discussion sessions for 8 different topics. After these discussion sessions, PYs, in their respective contingents, will use what they have learnt and experienced to conceptualize various Post Program Activities (PPA). Some of the discussion facilitators in SSEAYP 2014 commented about their experiences.

Phouvang Phaophongsavath – International Relations First Discussion Facilitator from Laos

Phouvang mentioned that the main challenges he faced as a facilitator were (1) how to engage all PYs in the group so that they contribute their views (2) how to encourage active participation when PYs are in sub-groups. He feels that sustained collaboration between ASEAN and Japan is possible when the citizens' awareness of the issue is raised. As such, he hopes the International Relations discussion group will contribute towards this cause. Phouvang also mentioned that he can't really describe in words his emotions at being a facilitator.

Asri Wijayanti – Environment Discussion Facilitator For 2 Different Years

Asri was a facilitator for the 'Cross Cultural Understanding Promotion' (CCUP) and 'Natural Disaster Reduction' topics in 2011 and 2014 respectively. Asri shared that her experience of being a facilitator for 2 different years for 2 different topics was similar for both occasions, but with some differences. Not only was the content discussed differently, the discussion

"atmospheres" differed too. Especially in 2014 when NDR, compared to CCUP, was a topic that not all participating countries can relate with.

Mie Takenaka – Health Education Discussion Facilitator Who Is Not An Ex-PY

Mie shared that she was very glad she decided to sign up as a facilitator, even though she was not a PY before, because she feels SSEAYP is a unique experience that gives youth representatives from 11 different countries the opportunity to come together and share their knowledge about the discussion topic. Further, Mie feels that through the discussion program, PYs can be empowered to conceptualize projects that are useful or even solve long-standing issues or problems.

Kagnarith Chea (Cambodia) – Youth Entrepreneurship
Rodrigo C. Rivera (Philippines) – Cross Cultural Understanding Promotion
Asri wijayanti (Indonesia) – Environment (Natural Disaster Reduction)
Saengnapha Uthaisaengphaisan (Thailand) – Food and Nutrition Education
Mie Takenaka (Japan) – Health Education (Measures against HIV/AIDS)
Phouvang Phaophongsavath (Laos) – International Relations (Japan-ASEAN Cooperation)
Potjamon Piampanya (Thailand) – School Education
Wira Respati (Indonesia) – Information and Media

OBSC REPRESENTATIVE

Ten representatives from Alumni Associations boarded Nippon Maru in Surabaya on the 6th Dec 2014 to participate as the OBSC (On Board Ship Conference) for the 41st SSEAYP. Immediately after the handover session from the Discussion Group Facilitators to OBSC, the team worked on designing the Post Program Sessions as well as the SSEAYP News.

In the 1st Post Program Session with the PYs, the OBSC implemented an interactive session. All the reports presentation was done with the focus on emphasizing the importance of collectively stand together as one SI community. The following Post Program Sessions with the contingent was conducted in consideration of the project management module and ambitious PPA ideas from the PYs.

During the Courtesy Call at the Cabinet Office, the OBSC representative presented the reports of the respective Alumni Association annual highlights. In the courtesy call to the Cabinet Office, Mr Takahiko Yasuda, Director General for General Promotion of Policy on Youth Affairs and Childrearing, expressed his appreciation for the on-going support and contribution by the alumni towards the continuity of the SSEAYP. To conclude this year's OBSC participation in SSEAYP 2014, the team completed editing the SSEAYP News for publication.
